KING'S JUBILEE SHOULD WIN Dynasty Candidate Has Sporting Chance In To-day's Derby

Racing Boy For Garrison Cup

(BY "MORNING DEW")

The times registered on Saturday were, on the whole, on the slow side. This was particularly noticeable in the case of the 1935 griffins. The Maidens was won in 1.31.3, the Trials in 2.37.4 and the Hopeful Stakes in 2.05.3. This, bearing in mind the state of the course, was not at all good. Last year, with a few inches of mud on the course, the times for these races were respectively 1.30.1, 2.39, 2.06.3.

With the griffins performing so poorly it is difficult to make any forecast for the Derby. Herod is the only one we have not seen in action. Will he also prove a disappointment, as Pacific Hall and Mistake Bay have proved? Rose Queen ran a good race and the question now is whether an additional half mile will prove too much for her. King's Jubilee was all out in 2.37.4 in the mile and a quarter and it would appear, therefore, that the Derby will not be won this year under 3.10, unless Herod proves to be head and shoulders better than the other griffins we have seen.

Weighing up the chances, I consider King's Jubilee's claim for the Derby the brightest, with Rose Queen next and Herod next.

CHATER CUP VERY OPEN

Double Chance will have an excellent opportunity this morning of redeeming his defeat in the Valleys. He will probably go out in the Tower Stakes which he should win. Wadebridge, Seventeenth of September, Gold Picker and The Chetah will all be out here to try and score a win and an interesting race should be seen. The draw for the Perth Plate is interesting. Southern Cross, Mount Pilatus and Goldsmith are in the first section, while The Bean Goose has drawn in with Derby Day.

The Victoria Stakes look as though it will provide a return match between Diana Bay and Trentbridge. This time a win for Trentbridge can be predicted. The Challenge Cup will be sure to go to Liberty Bay.

In the races for griffins other than the Derby, there should be some big dividends, as all the ponies which did well on Saturday will probably be going out in the main event.

The Garrison Cup will find Partnership (last year's winner) starting again. He will meet Racing Boy again and I think the finishing order will be reversed this year, for Racing Boy finished second last year.

One of the best races of the day will be the Chater Cup. Gladiator is in this race at 108 pounds and might do well, despite the weights for the others in this race are all heavy as well. Bright Star, Don and Valorous are comparatively light.

Able Amazon should win the Melbourne Cup, for I foresee all this year's Australians will be resting before taking part in the Rooty Hill Derby to-morrow.

CLEAN CABINET SWEEP

Another Mussolini Record

Rome. Signor Mussolini has created another sensation. He made a clean sweep of the six ministers in the Cabinet besides himself, and of eight Under-Secretaries in one day.

There has been no such fundamental change in the ministerial departments since July, 1932. Even then only four ministers and 10 Under-Secretaries were dismissed.

The most notable change in the reshuffle is the resignation of Signor Jungs, Minister of Finance, and the appointment to this important post of Senator Count Thuan de Ravel, Mayor of Turin. Since he was made senator in 1933 the latter has not taken part in a single debate on financial problems.

His nomination came as a surprise to the financial world. For many weeks it had been common talk that Signor Jungs was tired. He has been at the head of the Treasury since July, 1932.

Several names were mentioned as his possible successor. But when the reshuffle for the day was announced, it was found that the post would go to a man outside the financial world.

The impression here is that Signor Mussolini will be the real Minister of Finance and the Count who is 47 and one of his most trusted and trustworthy Fascist henchmen, will execute his orders. Count de Revel's brilliant work at Turin, where he "purged" important circles of anti-Fascism and of dilatoriness in carrying out the new policy of the régime, indicates that he will be a loyal and energetic lieutenant.

It is no secret here that Senator Jungs's policy was of a very conservative nature. He is said to have disapproved of recent progressive measures with regard to the State control of foreign currencies.

Here is Health

"The user of Sanatogen is richly rewarded in freedom from languor, a gain of strength and activity and alertness of mind."

writes Dr. C. L. Wheeler.

This is the opinion that medical men have of Sanatogen; and when it is remembered that more than 25,000 physicians have written about the gratifying results they have obtained with Sanatogen, it becomes evident that you can trust this really exceptional tonic to help you, too.

Prof. Mann, formerly of Oxford University, explained the reason for the wonderful influence of Sanatogen on health, in these words:

"A building-up process goes on in the nerves after the administration of Sanatogen."

Start improving your health to-day. Take Sanatogen, and notice how fatigue and nervousness disappear. Take Sanatogen, and in a few weeks you will feel and look better than you have done for years. Follow the advice of these physicians and enjoy once more that sense of youthful health.

Rome, Feb. 15.
A surprisingly sharp statement issued by the Abyssinian legation here on Friday stresses that Abyssinia had, after the incident at Uadua on December 5 last, refrained from concentrating troops in that region and furthermore had given strict orders to the troops to avoid further clashes under all circumstances, an order which had been carefully obeyed. The statement then goes on to say that the security of Italian

HUNGER STRIKE IN POLAND

Desperate Action By Unemployed

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Warsaw, Feb. 15. The distressful consequences of unemployment are vividly exemplified by two cases now attracting widespread attention in Poland. In the city of Grandenz, an appeal was heard of a man named Lewandowski who three years ago was sentenced to penal servitude for life for robbery with violence to which he had pleaded guilty. The hearing of the appeal revealed that the alleged robbery was purely fictitious and that Lewandowski had made a bogus confession in order to be imprisoned because he was unemployed and starving. The conviction was quashed and Lewandowski has been released.

Since Monday, the city of Bromberg has been the scene of a regular hunger strike by 36 unemployed, the members of a political association called "Polish Insurgents" who had invaded the club house of the Bromberg branch of the Association, declaring that they would neither leave the premises nor take food until they have been given the possibility of obtaining work. They have carried out this threat with the result that most of them are so exhausted that the municipal authorities have been obliged to transport two of the strikers to hospital and send medical aid to others. All the hunger-strikers are fathers of families and have been jobless for some years.

N.D.L. DIRECTOR RETIRES

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").

The director of the North German Lloyd, Anton Broetje who retired on Saturday after 45 years active service with the Line is well-known also in the Far East where he was sent for the first time in 1896 and where two years later he met the then managing director, Wiegand whom Broetje accompanied on his subsequent journey to eastern and south-eastern Asia.

Broetje who travelled repeatedly in the Far East on behalf of the North German Lloyd was for many years in charge of the Lloyd's Far Eastern department and was elected a member of the board of directors in 1932, afterwards joining the board of the Hamburg Amerika Line.

COMMUNIST ARRESTS IN HOLLAND

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

Amsterdam, Feb. 16. A score of foreign Communists, mostly Germans, were arrested here in a raid made by the police on Friday in various quarters of the city. The arrested men were subjected to rigid questioning by the police in the course of which it was ascertained that ten of them had been acting as instructors to Dutch Communist organisations and that their agitation was directed against the Dutch as well as the German Governments. Some of the prisoners refused to give their names evidently fearing that they would be deported to Germany. The majority of those arrested will probably be placed in the concentration camp, the establishment or which was recently decided upon by the Dutch Government.

REBUKE BY GREEK PREMIER

To Chief Of General Staff

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

Athens, Feb. 16. The sensational statement recently made by the Chief of the Greek General Staff concerning the necessity of fortifying the frontier against Bulgaria was strongly disapproved by the Cabinet which has instructed the Greek Minister to Sofia to give a reassuring explanation to the Bulgarian Government. The Premier, however, reprimanded the Chief of the General Staff whose resignation is anticipated.

TROOPS IN THE SAAR

Dutch Contingent Leaves

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 17, 4.30 a.m.)

Saarbrücken, Feb. 16.

The first of the foreign troops sent into the Saar territory to maintain peace during the Plebiscite period departed on Saturday, the Dutch contingent being given a royal send-off, thus evidencing the good feeling which had prevailed between foreigners and the Saar population. The Commander-in-Chief, General Brind and numerous officers of other contingents came to the station to see the Dutch detachment off. The British band and guard of honour were drawn up in front of the station building which was surrounded by hundreds of people attracted by the spectacle.

The consensus of opinion here is that the Dutch troops as well as other foreign soldiers by their tactful, discreet and correct behaviour, are leaving the best impressions behind.

Next to depart will be the Swedish contingent, which is scheduled to leave on Monday, to be followed the next day by the British and Italian battalions. The British and Italian rear guards will leave on February 23.

Paris, Feb. 16.

The French giant airplane "Joseph Lebrun" with which the famous fliers, Rossi and Codos took off on Saturday morning from Istres near Marseilles for South America in an attempt to set up a new long distance record was sighted over Rabat, Morocco at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon flying at a speed of approximately 200 kilo-metres per hour.

The airmen's goal is Buenos Aires which they hope to reach by way of Dakar, Natal, thus beating their own long distance record of 9,104 kilometres.

FRENCH TREASURY BOND ISSUE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 16, 4.30 p.m.)

Paris, Feb. 16.

The decision taken by the board of regents of the Banque de France to resume on February 21 the discussion of the Government's request for raising the treasury bond issue from 10 milliard to 15 milliard francs is widely interpreted here as evidencing the serious divergences of opinion concerning the Government's credit policy. The Socialist "Populaire" speaks of an open conflict having broken out between the Board of regents and the Government, the group led by de Wendel and Rothschild being strongly opposed to the cabinet's credit policy to which the former governor of the Banque de France, Moret, has already fallen a victim. The paper alleges the new Governor, Tannery to be a "docile instrument" of the Government, but asserts that he has not yet succeeded in imposing his views on the opposition group of regents.

COTTON GOODS MARKETS

Increased Shipments To The Colonies

One of the most encouraging of those features of the Board of Trade returns for November which directly affected the Lancashire cotton industry was the continued high level shown for exports of cotton piece goods to India and to the Union of South Africa. These two countries, however, were by no means the only British markets to which exports of cotton cloth were at a better level, and the figures for some of the smaller British markets were especially gratifying. Thus shipments to British Malaya in November this year were 3,728,000 square yards, against 2,415,000 square yards in November last year; those to Ceylon were 2,321,000 square yards, against 955,000 square yards; those to the British West Indies were 4,163,000 square yards, against 1,565,000 square yards; and those to British Guiana were 820,000 square yards, against 560,000 square yards in November, 1933. By November the British colonies had no doubt settled down to trading in cotton goods under the new conditions imposed by the introduction of the quota system five or six months previously, and it is satisfactory to find that the adjustments have brought an increase in the takings from this country.

The Quota System
So far only a few scraps of evidence are available as to the effects of the quota system on the imports of cotton goods into the countries concerned, but those scraps are of considerable interest, and they suggest that the trend of trade has been fairly closely in accordance with expectations. In Malaya, for example, total imports of cotton piece goods in September were only 6,800,000 square yards, including 2,500,000 square yards from the United Kingdom and 3,500,000 square yards from Japan. In June, when trade was no doubt disorganised, Japan contributed 18,700,000 square yards and Great Britain only 1,800,000 square yards to total imports of 20,200,000 square yards, and the suggestion that the limitation of the imports of cheap Japanese goods, while permitting the entry of a larger quantity of British goods, is causing a reduction in the total imports is reinforced by the figures for September last year, when total imports were 12,300,000 square yards, of which Japan contributed 8,600,000 square yards and Lancashire 1,800,000 square yards.

Conditions Still Disorganised
Ceylon does not yet appear to have completed its readjustments to the new circumstances, and the following figures of that market's imports of cotton piece goods suggest that trade was still in a disorganised condition as recently as October:—

	(In millions of yards.)	Total	From U.K.	From Japan
1934
July	11.39	64	9.71
August	2.72	80	49
September	9.06	83	71.9
October	3.93	2.05
1933
July	5.68	47	4.41
August	5.17	84	3.57
September	5.00	75	3.37
October	5.30	66	3.62

The figures for November, when they are available, will no doubt indicate whether September or October is the better guide to what the imports during the next few months are likely to be.

As far as British West Africa is concerned, the Board of Trade figures show that the exports of cotton piece goods from the United Kingdom to that market rose from 3,200,000 square yards in June to 4,300,000 square yards in July, to 4,800,000 square yards in August, 7,300,000 square yards in September, 8,100,000 square yards in October, and 9,600,000 square yards in November, though it should be noted that as recently as November, 1932, the exports were 18,500,000 square yards.

SOCIAL HISTORY

Breaking Victorian Conventionalism

Mrs. Moreton Frewen's death recalls a piece of social history: A daughter of Mr. Leonard Jerome, of New York, she was the eldest of three sisters, all of whom married Englishmen.

Their example, since widely followed, helped to break down the excessive conventionalism of Victorian society.

The pioneer was Miss Jeannette Jerome, the second sister. After a couple of meetings with a young Englishman at Cowes in August, 1873, she told her laughing and incredulous sister of a presentiment that their new friend was the man she would marry.

The man was Lord Randolph Churchill, and the story of his romantically swift wooing is told in Mr. Winston Churchill's biography of his father.

Subsequently the eldest sister married Mr. Moreton Frewen, and the youngest, who is still alive, Sir John Leslie.

Children of all three unions have attained distinction. Mrs. Clare Sheridan is Mrs. Frewen's daughter, and Lady Leslie's eldest son is Mr. Shane Leslie.

Mrs. Frewen never took quite the same prominent place in society as her more brilliant sisters. She was, however, a well-known figure in the political and social circles of her time.

CAUSE OF MACON DISASTER

Structural Weakness Alleged

San Francisco, Feb. 16.

Lieutenant Calvin Bolster, a naval construction and repair officer, dropped a bombshell into the Macon airship disaster enquiry by testifying that he felt certain that the casualty occurred in the portion of the ship where she had trouble during her transcontinental flight last year, which almost led to disaster.

He believed that the structure failed either in the fins or where the fins were attached to the hull.

Lieutenant Bolster added that the weakness was known and repairs were ordered, but were not completed before the fatal flight.

It is gratifying to note that the quality of Craven A is absolutely unvarying

The original letter is held at Arcadia Works and its authenticity can be verified.

"Candidly, I think there are few brands of either cigarette or tobacco that I have not sampled at one time or another; and the only time I smoke a cigarette is after each meal — or sometimes when a pipe is not suitable."

The object of my writing to you is to acquaint you with the fact that your Craven A Cigarettes are the only ones I can smoke with any pleasure, and I think it is generally conceded that pipe-smokers look upon the average cigarette as too insipid."

THE STORY OF
"Bulldog Drummond
Strikes Back"

RONALD COLMAN
LORETTA YOUNG, CHARLES BUTTERWORTH
WARNER BOND and UNA MERRILL

CHAPTER VI
The two stealthily climbed the cellar stairs, but before they reached the top step a figure stepped out of the shadows behind them.
"Your hands up, sir!" said an Oriental. "Walk straight ahead, sir—both of you."
"I must say, sir," said Achmed as the two were led into his presence in the living room, "I've rarely had the pleasure of knowing so courageous a light!"
"You understand, of course, that a translation of your radiogram is already on its way to Scotland Yard?"
It is too late now. Within an hour my ship will be leaving and then farewell to England!"
Drummond looked at Algy and then at the French window. The same thought entered both minds.
They make a run for the window.
Drummond grabbed the latch, but as he did so, there is a sharp crack of a pistol and a pane of glass was shattered.

"I'm afraid the next one, Drummond, will have to be yours anyway.
Your twenty minutes is up and you have failed to divulge the whereabouts of the message. Therefore, you force me to exact from you the extreme penalty for your courageous but stupid silence." Achmed slowly pointed his revolver at Drummond.
"And now what's going on in 'ere?"
Was this all about 'ere? The two noisy bobbies have heard the shot and have come to see what the disturbance is about.

"Ere, now. Oo's shooting 'oo?"
"Look At It, Drummond again!"
"Well, strike me pink! Ow did you get in again?" said the startled bobby. "Captain Drummond, we've got orders to place you under arrest."

The bobbies march Drummond and Algy out to the street.
"My thanks, my personal thanks," said Drummond, shaking the bob-bies by the hand. "You shall both be promoted for this. And with that Drummond and Algy dash off into the fog, leaving the two bobbies staring at each other. Algy and Drummond reach their car and with a roar they career down the street. They had barely disappeared in the fog before Achmed and his party in slightly curtailed limousine came swirling out the driveway, and disappeared in the same direction.

"Probably none of my business," said Algy, "but where are we going?"
"To the docks!" replied Drummond.

The crew of the Bombay Girl was hastily unloading the last crates from the boat when Drummond and Algy brought their car to a stop with a screech. The car jumped from the car and dashed up the gangplank just as Achmed's car swung onto the dock.

"What's that man!" shouted Ach-med before he had time to get out of his car. Several men started after Drummond and Algy as they dashed into the gangway.

"Find the wireless room—get the code book!" shouted Drummond, as he dashed down to the engine room.
Grabbing several pieces of waste, he lighted them and threw them into the fuel room below. Making a run for the stairs, he gained the deck just as two men with guns halted him. The fire had started to spread through the ship. Drummond was hastily marched to the gangplank where he was joined by several other men with their hands in the air, all members of the crew.

"As Drummond joined the other prisoners, he saw Nielson and Lola.
"Oh, my blessed inspector, and my thrice-blessed Lola! Into your hands—safe at last!"
"I'm afraid you're in for it this time, Drummond," said Nielson.

compares the radiogram with the code book. "Died of cholera!
Cholera!" Nielson looked at Ach-med. "And you were endeavoring to smuggle information to the British?"
To risk the starting of a terrible plague!"
"It is useless to profess innocence any longer. Every penny I had was invested in this. And Achmed with dignity. "Gentlemen, I have lost."
"You know he was probably a very nice fellow," said Algy, "and calling the message he ate at Ach-med's house."

The telephone rings and Algy wearily answers: Oh, hello, Hugh—What's new?"
"I have the pleasure of informing you that a marriage has been arranged, and we will take place the instant you and Gwen arrive to witness the ceremony. Of course, I know that you are—a—but surprisingly you can't sleep at this hour!
What's the matter? It's broad daylight. Come right over!"
"Who was that?" asked Gwen as she brought Algy his tea.

"That was Hugh. Just wanted us to come and witness a wedding.
Says he and Lola are going to get married right away."

"The way it's beginning to look,"
said Gwen, "it might just as well never have brought these palamas at all."

"That's all right, dear, let's go.
Who knows but what we may be very happy in our quiet platonic way?"

happy one.

LESSON SERMON

First Church Of

Hong Kong

"SOUL" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday 17th
February, 1935.

The Golden Text was "Set your heart and your soul to seek the Lord, Your God. (I Chronicles 22: 19).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon was the following from the Bible:
"My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord:
my heart and my flesh cryeth out for the living God. For the Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory;
no good thing will be withhold-ed from them that walk uprightly."
(Psalms 84: 2, 11)

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul is synonymous with Spirit, God, the creative governing, infinite Principle outside of finite form, which forms and its attributes were forever manifested through man, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, thus bringing to light the scientific action of the divine Mind on human minds

understanding of Soul and salva-

TROUBLE

Now Showing At
The Star

The main attraction at the Star Theatre now is a film called "Trouble" which in addition to being a Sydney Howard comedy is also a pleasure cruise.

The plot concerns a pleasure trip in the Mediterranean and according to their policy of presenting only authentic backgrounds in their pictures British and Dominion actually sent the film unit on a cruise to secure genuine atmosphere.

By arrangement with the Orient Line, Sydney Howard and other members of the cast, together with director Maclean Rogers and a complete production crew, sailed on the s.s. Orford, which was bound from Southampton on a fortnight's cruise via Tangiers, Vigo, Casablanca, Gibraltar, Barcelona and Lisbon.

Shooting proceeded on board, and the other holiday passengers took a participating share in the film activities and actually appear as "extras" in certain scenes.

Extensive filming was also carried on in Tangiers itself notably in the native quarter.

Willing co-operation was lent by the authorities—and shooting proceeded smoothly. Difficulties were inevitably encountered of course—and some very amusing. But none of them proved insuperable.

Work was limited by the fact that the streets are very narrow and it was only during the mid-day hours that conditions of light were right for the cameraman—when the sun, being high, shone down into the street.

Consequently the film unit earned a reputation for eccentricity by working in the hottest part of the day—while the rest of the population retired gratefully into the shade for a rest.

SHOWING TO-DAY AT THE KING'S

"Bulldog Drummond
Strikes Back"

Ronald Colman made a triumphant return to the screen of the King's Theatre to-day, after a year's absence from pictures, in "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back," and 20th Century could not have chosen a happier vehicle for their new star than this thrill-packed sequel to the delightful "Bulldog Drummond," which brings him back in the characterization most beloved of his fans.

Colman is his old, charming self and the script, which Nunnally Johnson prepared from the latest novel by H. C. McNeile, creator of the dashing adventurer, is rich in that suave humour which the star is so excellent at putting across, and the film found an eager, and delight audience at the King's Theatre.

"Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back" finds the lovable adventurer returned from a big game hunting expedition to attend the wedding of his nitwitted friend, Algy, to a gushing young beauty, named Owen, and swearing off excitement for life. Lost in a London fog, he wanders into a deserted house and finds the body of a murdered man. When he returns with the police, he is baffled to find the sinister Hindu Prince Achmed, apparently spending a quiet evening at home with his daughter Lady Jane and her husband Dr. Southerton all amazed at the very idea of violence.

When Lola Field, a beautiful, hysterical girl, comes to him and sobs out a mysterious tale of an uncle who had vanished from the Oriental's house, Drummond determines to solve the riddle at any cost, and calls in the reluctant Algy to help him.

It would be unfair to reveal the plot in further details, but we promise you will get more than your share of thrills, suspense and laughter as you watch this smart, fresh, swift-paced mystery thriller unfold. Colman has never been seen to better advantage, and the remaining players, particularly Warner Oland as Prince Achmed, Loretta Young as Lady Jane, Charles Butterworth as Algy, Una Merkel as Gwyn, C. Aubrey Smith as Inspector Nielson of Scotland Yard, Kathleen Burke as Achmed's daughter, are perfectly cast and turn in performances of uniform excellence.

Boy-Del Ruth, who directed "The Terror," the first 100% talking mystery thriller ever made, handled the megaphone and proved that he knows how to wring every last drop of suspense and gaiety out of a given situation.

Despite your age or cinema preferences, you're bound to have a swell time at "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back."

"20TH CENTURY"

Coming On Thursday
To The King's

One thousand pounds of authenticity was employed in the making of "20th Century," John Barrymore's latest starring picture, coming to the King's Theatre on Thursday.

The half-ton of material consisted of special hardware, sent direct to Columbia Studios from the New York Central lines in New York, every ounce of it absolutely authentic. It was stripped from rolling stock used on the real Twentieth Century Limited, the New York Central crack train between New York and Chicago.

Hand-brake lever, air-whistles, door handles, light-brackets, iron gates, steps, and dozens of other articles of iron, steel, brass and bronze were included in the shipment.

Two of the most important pieces in the consignment were the illuminated neon sign which always decorates the rear of the observation platform of the luxury train, and a whistle from one of the Twentieth Century locomotives. The sign is an important "prop" in the development of the picture, and the whistle and its distinctive sound play a featured part in the story.

When Columbia officials and technicians went East recently to photograph essential atmosphere for backgrounds, New York Central officials requested that the whistle sounds which are heard in the picture be recorded from a blast of one of their own Twentieth Century locomotive instruments. This crack train, they explained, is equipped with a specially toned whistle, designed so that its blast will be most soothing to the sleeping passengers on the train.

The sign and the whistle presented problems to Columbia Studios technical crews when they arrived in Los Angeles, for the sign was designed to carry a thirty-two volt direct current, and the ordinary lighting and power circuits of the film city are either 110 or 220 volt alternating current, and no steam power for the whistle was available in Hollywood. Technicians solved the former problem by combining a number of batteries until the correct voltage was obtained, but it was necessary to rent a locomotive from the Southern Pacific Railway to get sufficient pressure to blow the whistle. The instrument is of iron and brass and weighs sixty pounds.

Throughout the making of the production, the railway company furnished the greatest co-operation in providing plans, photographs, sketches and measurements of its cars, locomotives, and other details of production.

John Barrymore is seen as the erratic and temperamental theatrical producer, Jaffe, in this screen adaptation of the rollicking comedy by Charles MacArthur. Ben Hecht and Charles B. Mitchell, which kept New York rocking with laughter for months. Carole Lombard is in the leading lady role, that of a fiery and temperamental star, with Walter Connolly, Roscoe Karns, Ralph Forbes, Etienne Girardot and Charles Levison in supporting places.

ONE NIGHT OF LOVE

Current Attraction
At The Queen's

Tullio Carminati and Grace Moore, he of the charming debonaire manners, and she of the alluring beauty and golden-toned voice, appear as the romantic duo in Columbia's thrilling musical romance, "One Night of Love," current film attraction at the Queen's Theatre.

The performances of these two stars of the theatre have been hailed by press and public alike as "Magnifique," to adopt the description offered by Maurice Chevalier. Mona Barrie and Lyle Talbot appear in supporting roles, and others in the cast include Jessie Ralph, Nydia Westman, Andres de Segura and Luis Siberia.

Prepared for the screen by S.K. Lauren, James Gow and Edmund North, "One Night of Love" was directed by Victor Schertzinger. This entertaining musical comedy is made all the more enchanting by the exquisite voice and beauty and charming personality of Miss Moore which are allowed full reign and provide great thrills.

ONE IS GUILTY

Coming Soon To

Philo Vance, Charlie Chan—and now Inspector Trent.

William Powell owes much of his present screen eminence to his characterization of the suave, debonaire sleuth created by S.S. Van Dine; Warner Oland wisely attributes his many Oriental roles to his portrayal of the portly Chinaman whose homely philosophy aids him in the solution of crimes, a character evolved by the late Earl Derr Biggers.

Inspector Trent is the latest addition to this triumvirate of screen sleuths. He represents the finest type of American detective. Concise, brisk and to the point, he mimes no words but arrives at his conclusions in a clear-cut, pertinent fashion.

Inspector Trent comes to the screen in a series of four mystery thrillers made by Columbia studios. Portrayed by Ralph Bellamy, he made his debut several months ago in "Before Midnight," his second appearance in "One Is Guilty" which will be seen shortly at the Queen's Theatre.

Bellamy was chosen by Columbia to typify Inspector Trent because of his powerful physique, his decisive diction, his straightforward manner, to say nothing of his growing screen popularity.

Shirley Grey is featured opposite him in "One Is Guilty" while the supporting cast includes Willard Robertson, Rita La Roy, Vincent Sherman, Ruth Abbot, J. Carroll Nash, Ralph Remley and Harry Todd. Lambert

BOY HAS LINER

Only Passenger On
Atlantic Voyage

New York.

The curious experience of crossing the Atlantic from Belfast to New York as the sole passenger in the 7,590 tons liner American Lines, gave 12-year-old Brian Armour a place on the front pages of the newspapers here.

The liner has accommodation for 100 passengers, but Brian had it all to himself. Three people who boarded the ship at Liverpool went ashore at Belfast, fearing they would feel lonely during the eight days voyage. But the boy traveller was not bored.

Capt. John Anderson decided to take advantage of the unusual situation to paint the interior of his ship, and moved Brian from his small cabin to a state-room under the bridge. There the boy enjoyed the undivided attention of five cabin stewards, six deck stewards and six dining saloon stewards, with a choice of a place at any one of 14 tables when he took his meals.

In accordance with maritime custom, the captain invited him, as the principal passenger, to dine at his table on the last night of the voyage, and solemnly placed a paper cap on his head. The ship's doctor joined him in endless games of draughts, while everyone

Showing At The

"The Dude Ranger," now showing at the Alhambra Theatre is a Western thriller which is well worth seeing.

George O'Brien has the leading role in this picture, which tells of a city man who comes to Arizona to claim a ranch inherited from his uncle. Before he has an opportunity to make his identity known to the ranch manager, his suspicions are aroused by the disappearance of several hundred head of cattle.

Mistaken for a cowboy in search of a job, he decides to masquerade in this role until he has cleared up the mishandling of the ranch. In the meanwhile, he has discovered another reason to extend his stay, in the person of the ranch manager's daughter.

Irene Hervey has the leading feminine role while the supporting cast includes Henry Hall, LeRoy Mason, Alma Chater, Sid Taylor and Sid Jordan.

As is usual in a Westerner, the film abounds with thrills and gun play which are exceedingly exciting. Lovers of out door life should see this picture.

THE MAN WITH TWO FACES

The Next Change
At The Alhambra

One of the strangest and most baffling murder mystery dramas is scheduled to be shown at the Alhambra on Wednesday under the title of "The Man With Two Faces."

The picture, a First National production, is based on the tremendous stage success by George S. Kaufman and Alexander Woolcott, two of Broadway's most famous playwrights.

Edward G. Robinson has the role of a noted Broadway actor and director, while Mary Astor plays the part of his sister, one of the most beautiful and talented actresses of her time. Ricardo Cortez, usually the villain of the piece, has the heroic role in this picture, being the theatrical producer who is in love with his star performer, Miss Astor.

She, however, is married to a worthless scamp, a part enacted by Louis Calhern, who has not only caused her physical and mental breakdown before, but is again holding her under a hypnotic spell, and swaying her to his will in order to reap the benefits of her current success.

Then the husband is found murdered in a fashionable hotel suite occupied by a mysterious Mr. Chautard, presumably a foreign theatrical producer, but who has vanished as into thin air without leaving a trace.

Several persons are suspected of the crime, including Miss Astor, the wife Robinson, the brother, and Cortez, the lover. The police are completely baffled until a strange coincidence reveals the slayer to a single officer, who forgets it. In addition to the players mentioned, there is a large and talented cast in the various roles. Mae Clarke has an important part as have Arthur Byron as the family doctor and John Eldredge. Other important members of the cast include Emily Fitzroy, David Landau, Henry O'Neill, Arthur Aylesworth, Margaret Dale and Virginia Sale. Tom Reed and Niven Busch dramatized the screen play from the original which was produced by the Sam H. Harris Theatrical Enterprises, Inc. Archie Mayo directed.

OBITUARY

Mr. Fred Normington

It is with much regret that we have to announce the death, which occurred somewhat suddenly on Saturday afternoon, of Mr. Fred Normington, Junior Charge Engineer at the Power Station of the Hong Kong Electric Co.

The late Mr. Normington was 41 years of age, and had been in poor health ever since he returned from Home leave last November. He was, however, able to carry out his duties, but on Saturday he suddenly became alarmingly ill and was hurried off by his colleagues, Mr. S. A native of Yorkshire, the late Mr. Normington was a member of the Yorkshiremen's Society of Hong Kong. He was a Freemason, being a member of Zetland Lodge, No. 525.

He leaves behind his wife, mother and sister, who are all in England, to mourn his loss, and to whom the deepest sympathy is extended.

GLASGOW AND ITS
UNIVERSITYLecture By Professor W.
Brown At University

At a General Meeting of the Law and Commerce Society, University of Hong Kong, held on Friday, Professor W. Brown, delivered an interesting lecture on 'Glasgow and its University' to a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Yih Dachin, Chairman of the Society, presided. The lecture was illustrated by lantern pictures.

The lecturer commenced with a rapid but illuminating survey of the geological foundations upon which the industrial and economic fortunes of Glasgow and the surrounding district were built, showing especially the importance of the coal deposits. The origin of these having been explained, an historical account of early Scotland and the beginnings of Glasgow followed. The story of St. Mungo was illustrated by reference to the badge of the University of Glasgow, which in common with that of Glasgow itself, symbolises not the characteristic features of modern industry but the legends of that saint; the tree beneath which, while sick of fever, he was saved by medicinal leaves brought by the bird there depicted on its branches; the bell of his church, which was miraculously tolled by no human hand when Mungo died; and the story of the fish and the ring, which has figured in so many forms in European legend.

Glasgow for many centuries was a small town, with a population of only a few thousands. But in 1450, some forty years after the founding of the University of St. Andrews (the first in Scotland), it proceeded to establish a University of its own. The Universities of Aberdeen and Edinburgh were of later foundation. The early history and fluctuating fortunes of the University were traced, special reference being made to the 'critical' period immediately following the Reformation when the number of students was reduced to four. The lecturer gave especial prominence to the work of Melville who, as Principal and Professor raised the prestige of the University, by his learning and administrative ability, so that in a few years the number reached four hundred. It was interesting to note that Melville himself instructed classes in a wide variety of subjects including Latin, Greek, Hebrew and other ancient languages, natural philosophy and natural theology.

The beginnings of the modern prosperity of Glasgow are to be found in the late seventeenth and early eighteenth century, when the Atlantic trade was being established. With the Union of the Scottish and English Parliaments in 1707, trade with the American colonies, hitherto obstructed, so far as Scotland was concerned, by the colonial and navigation policy of England, was opened up more freely, and Glasgow reaped the advantages of her situation on the west coast of Scotland in a rapidly developing trade, especially in tobacco. The tobacco trade, indeed, quickly became identified with Glasgow, and her 'tobacco lords' dominated her industrial life for some time. When the American colonies became independent, Glasgow suffered a serious loss in the repudiation of debts amounting to a million sterling, but although this meant a large sum per head of the city's population at that time, the essential solidity of her trade and industry was shown by a speedy recovery.

The subsequent history of Glasgow, especially in connection with the rise of her shipbuilding industry, was briefly outlined. The energy of the city's leaders was exemplified by the manner in which the river Clyde, a comparatively small stream, was by deepening and training made suitable for the building and launching of the world's largest vessels. The expansion of the city's industry was accompanied by a rapid increase of the population. The original University building was engulfed in this advance. This was a building which was in certain respects a centre of world history, for it was in it that James Watt did the vital work which gave to the world the steam engine. The Industrial Revolution, it might be said, was born there in 1765. Lord Kelvin, who might be properly considered the founder of electrical engineering, also did some of his pioneer work there. This structure was demolished in 1870, and a new building erected five miles further west. It is significant of the continuing expansion of Glasgow that this site also is now surrounded by urban developments.

The lecturer concluded by pointing out that the Midland Valley of Scotland was, economically, a unique region as remarkable for agriculture in the East as for shipbuilding and engineering in the west. Statistics showed that the average productivity in Scotland of land devoted to grain and vast crops, was considerably higher than in England. Strangely enough, the disparity was least evident in the case of oats, contrary to the general impression, due largely to Dr. Johnson, that Scotland was pre-eminently associated with the production of that commodity.

On the motion of the President of the Society, Professor Robertson, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the lecturer.

KING'S JUBILEE GIFT HOUSESome Of The Details

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 28.

Mr. C. Beresford Marshall, of Marshall and Tweedy, F.F.R.I.B.A., gave some of the details of the house which the Royal Warrant Holders are presenting to the King as a Jubilee gift.

Mr. Marshall designed the house. The house will be quite small and built with all the latest labour-saving devices.

The walls will be faced with thin, hand-made, multi-coloured brown and grey brick, with stone edges round the door.

It will have a sloping roof tiled to harmonise with the walls.

Living Rooms

The accommodation will consist of three living-rooms, one principal bedroom with a dressing-room and bathroom, attached, two guest-rooms with their own bathroom and two servants' rooms, each sufficient for two people, also with their own bathroom.

In addition there will be a flat for the chauffeur over the garage. The hall will be given an air of spaciousness by stepping down the entrance to the reception rooms, which will have wide sliding doors. There will be an open wrought-iron staircase from the hall to the first floor and a separate staircase in the servants' quarters. The drawing-room and the dining-room will have oak parquet floors and the King's study will have a border of Australian black wood.

Gas Available

The cooking will be done by electricity, although gas will also be available.

Both the King's bedroom and the dining-room will have verandas facing south on to a terrace which will run the length of the house.

Mr. Marshall said that before completing his final design he made six rough schemes. His object has been to avoid ultra-modern experiment, but to create a house which is small but spacious and derives its beauty from the simplicity and purity of its design rather than extraneous ornament.

All materials used will be of British or Empire origin and the actual building will be begun shortly by Messrs. J. Mowlem and Company, Ltd. The site at Birchall near Esher has been presented by

THE PRICE OF LUCK

If it were left to the unfettered choice of the parents, the problem of naming a child is one which might produce happier results than some of those with which we are all familiar. There are many reasons—not all of them good ones—why the choice of Christian names should be dictated by other considerations than those of euphony and family tradition. For example, it is a very old trick to set the baptismal sprat to catch the testamentary whale, and many a wretched creature has carried through life the outlandish name of some rich uncle who may have appreciated the implied compliment without having acknowledged it in the only manner that could make acknowledgement worth while. Unfettered choice, on the other hand, is not without its perils. How many a Diana has lived to regret she had not been called plain Janet, how many a little Victor has achieved a destiny no more glorious than that of a clerk's desk in an office.

Yet, however disastrous unfettered choice may prove in the long run, it scarcely seems to have such unhappy possibilities as occur when an astrologer is invited to the conference at which the choice of names is debated. So it would seem, at least, on reading what has befallen the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Beldam, better known in Hollywood and the cinemas as Rex Bell and Clara Bow. The child's mother, we are told, wanted him to be called Bow Beldam, a designation which leaves no doubt at all about the child's parentage, but which has little else to commend it in a country where it is not uncommon to prefix one's remarks with an exclamation "Say!" Mr. Beldam himself inclined to the view that his son should be called Rex, and finally it was agreed to call him Rex Bow, when the astrologer stepped in and mentioned that if the child was to have a lucky life it was imperative that the letters "lar" occur somewhere in his name. And so the poor bewildered parents agreed to add the mystic letters. But where? That was the problem. We are not told how long it took to arrive at an agreed solution, but the result is Rex Larbow Beldam, which it will be agreed is a sore handicap for any child, and a poor beginning to a happy life. One can only hope that his later years may justify his parents' innocent belief in the virtues of astrology.

CANTON TROOPS TO REMAIN

Not Proceeding Kwangsi

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Feb. 17. Following instruction from The Ministry of War that Kwangtung troops should not proceed to Kweichow, the headquarters staff of the Second Army to-day cancelled their departure for Liuchow, Kwangsi and they will remain in Canton for the time being.

The Central Military Authorities stated that the Communists are no longer a source of danger, as they have only 30,000 men left with 20,000 rifles. These troops, in the opinion of the Nanking military, can be suppressed without much difficulty, and therefore it is not necessary for the Kwangtung and Kwangsi troops to go to Kweichow.

Lieut.-General Mo Chien Hung, officer commanding the fourth division stated in an interview that the Communists are located mostly in Northern Kweichow and Southern Szechuen and that the Nanking and provincial forces are chasing after them. He said his own division stations around Shaoyuan, North Kwangtung and will not move anywhere.

Independent reports stated that three counties in Northern Yunnan have been captured by the Communists, who find that their push into Southern Szechuen is met with some opposition. The Yunnan troops are not sufficient to cope with the situation. With Northern Yunnan as a base, the Reds hope to make a dash into Western Szechuen.

LINKING UP BY WIRELESS

Canton-Shanghai Telephone

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Feb. 17. Following the arrival of the machinery for the Canton-Shanghai wireless telephone installation, service between the two cities will begin on March 1. In this connection, Mr. Teng Chung Yao, director of the Canton Telephone Administration, arrived in Shanghai to-day.

There will be a test during the first week before commercial use will be possible. Machinery for the two stations was ordered from the General Electric Company.

After consulting officials of the Shanghai Telephone Administration, Mr. Teng will proceed to Nanking to see Dr. Chu Chia Hua, Minister of Communications. They will decide on the tariff toll for the service and other detailed arrangements.

The Central Authorities want to link up Canton by all possible means. At present there is an air service to be followed by placing the four new steamers on the Canton-Shanghai run. The radio-telephone service comes as a further link between Canton and Shanghai.

CAPTURE OF RED CHIEFTAIN

Led Through Main Streets Of City

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Nanchang, Feb. 7.

Thousands upon thousands of people this morning crowded the streets leading from the Military Court to the Sun Yat Sen Memorial Hall as Fang Chih Min, an important Red military commander, who was captured some days ago, was led through the main thoroughfares. The parade ended at the Sun Yat Sen Hall where a mass meeting was held at noon. The Hall was packed to capacity with several tens of thousands of people milling outside the hall entrance to have a glimpse of the notorious Red chieftain who for the past four years was one of the "brain-

If Gossip We Must

(By "PRUDENCE")

Splendid weather; surprising dividends, and stunning dresses, were the order of the day at the first Race Meeting. All the real enthusiasts were there, and then some—difficult to find people in the crush, but I kept my weather-eye open for fascinating frocks.

Lady Peel had a most attractive costume of dark mauve and a hat with flowers to match. Lady Southern looked very trim and smart in a black suit and hat of red. Mrs. Borrett was extremely smart in dark green. Mrs. Seth-Smith had a most unusual dress of brown cloth, with tiny spots of gold; and Mrs. Dunbar was in sporting "Racing-checks."

I saw quite a crowd round Mrs. Alex Grantham, (who is just back after an absence of nearly two years), among them was Mrs. Taggart who looked very sweet in royal blue.

Mrs. J. H. Morris looked particularly charming in claret-coloured velours-cloth and had brought her two daughters, Valerie (who looked a darling in powder-blue Angora) and Sylvia, very slim and dainty in a narrow stone-coloured coat.

One of the smartest girls in the Members Enclosure was Miss Dickens in white and black check; I loved Miss Holedan's little blouse of cowslip yellow, and the Russian effect on Mrs. Ramsey's dark dress. Pamela Scott Harston looked very pretty, and Beryl Fairre had a sweet little suit of pale blue frieze. Betty Fairre was (I think), in gray but I only glimpsed her at a distance. Yvonne Shenton had one of those long slim coats worn over a Russian tunic of green; Mary Taylor had nut brown and pale pink and this attractive colour-scheme was also carried out by Mrs. Francis Webb. She and her husband will be very much missed when they leave on the next Trooper for "Gyb."

Apple Strahan seemed to be drawing a lot of winnings, but I am afraid that (like mine), they were of the ten-cent variety. "Talkings of winnings, I met a friend who told me she had backed six ponies (for wins or places) and that every one of them had come in as required! I started to congratulate her on her ill-gotten gains, but she stopped me with a bitter smile (as they say in books). "My winnings" said she "amount to just five dollars and fifty cents."

But I digress. I meant to tell you that I saw Mrs. D. M. Richards looking so nice, in navy and green; and Mrs. Griffiths in cerise, and Mrs. Compton looking lovely in rifle-green. Mrs. Peter Grist was really stunning in dead black, and Mrs. Alfred Lammer was charming in flecked gray tweed, with a "Princess Marina" hat. Mrs. Feld wore black, and Mrs. Frederick was in beige. Pamela Potter looked awfully nice in gray and Patricia was in orange, which suited her well. Mrs. Delamaine had a clever costume of gray and scarlet. Oh I am forgetting Heather Gerard—who looked really "super" in French-gray and dark blue and Mrs. Wolsey (in very attractive checks, with a spotted stock of brown) and please will somebody tell me the name of that lovely blonde in blue, with shoes to match. I see her nearly everywhere, but cannot discover who she is!

(By "ONLOOKER")

That most deserving of charities the S.P.C.A. had a wonderful Dinner dance and cabaret on Friday night. All the world seemed to be there and there was a marvellously cheerful atmosphere of good will and enjoyment. After a particularly good dinner, and some dances between courses the cabaret began with (in the words of the attractive programme), "our Mr. Hodgkinson" and a friend who played to us magnificently on their accordions.

Later Eric Nelson and John Ropes sang "Miss Otis" and a roof-raising topical (?) song which seemed to be all about "cads." Then Eric Nelson and Peggy Humphries "went all continental" and were a roaring success. Padre Brown told us a lot about love and we loved it. Jack Grenham and James Ferguson did an uproarious funny. Spanish dance, (the most original dance number I have ever seen). The Folkestone put up a side splitting Harlem scene with appropriate Nauth dancer and all. And last but not least Betty Pestonji gave a tap dance which was the success of the evening. Oh! and we almost forgot to mention the "Horse" which was put through its paces by that inimitable comper John Ropes, and was finally auctioned for vast sums for the cause. Mr. Plovansell's beautiful little Dachs-hund also collected with great success.

In the crowded roof garden it was difficult to pick out dresses, but still I managed to see some gorgeous ones. Quite the loveliest being the Dark blue and silver worn by Mrs. Baker-Garr. The long train was looped up in the cleverest way for dancing. Mrs. Johnson looked so cool and fresh in filmy grey chiffon, and so did Miss Beauderck in egg shell blue. Mrs. McAvoy looked wonderful in brown velvet with fur trimmings, and I loved Mrs. Harry Owen Hughes green velvet.

Quite a lot of people were wearing flowers somewhere or other, and I thought the Chinese lady in silver with a spray of blossoms on her wrist looked exquisite. What a lot of first rate movies we have seen lately. And how delightful it is to see some really English humour sometimes. I wonder why it has not the universal appeal of the American variety. I have known Americans sit quite unmoved by the wildest Aldwych farce, while their English friends were rocking in their seats with positively painful mirth. "The Cuckoo in the Nest" was surely one of the best shows Tom Walls has ever produced, and he was perfect as the bucolic old father-in-law.

And so Commander Hole is in the finals for the Captain's cup. This golf business is a very serious matter, and we hear on good authority that he is to be wrapped in cotton wool all the week in preparation for the great event. Bed at nine o'clock, and a special diet of raw beer and onions. The latter being just another method of putting his opponent off. Vive le sport!

A DANCE ON THE PEAK.

Wearily, but happy, Dorrit arises at crack of dawn to tell you about the lovely party last night. Would it be fun for you to know exactly where it was? Alas, we are so discreet, so we will not do more than tell you it was at a very popular house in Stubbs Road.

We achieved the difficult ascent, and duly parked our car without mishap, in company with all the other cars, on the tennis court. (How I envy the people who can get right up to their door in their motors.) And having divested ourselves of our "rabbit" in the loveliest green bedroom in Hong Kong, we assembled to greet our host and hostess, his niece, and her sister. They were all looking wonderful. The said hostess was wearing a vastly becoming black dress with a pattern of roses over it, her sister had a gorgeous black velvet dress with black and white tulle frills draped low down on the skirt, and the cousin was in an uncommon shade of ice blue.

Looking around the cheerful assembly we saw a vast number of attractive people, marvellously clad. We thought Serena Greysford was the "Belle of the ball" in pure white with that cherry tulle boa affair. Mrs. Far Eastern looked lovely in petunia taffeta, and so did Mrs. Fitzjohn in palest pink angel skin lace. There was a great variety of the very young lovelies. Elizabeth and Erica from the University looked their sweetest in pink and white respectively. And little Miss Treasury looked so nice in palest pink.

So much for the lovelies. And now for the band. They hailed from the Hotel presumably, and they were in wonderful form, and we danced to their hot rhythm till the cows came home.

ACROSS THE WATER.

At the U.S.R.C. Captain Dunlop and Major Tyndall held their mammoth farewell party on Friday night. They are the two sole surviving "Ambassadors of Empire," and the party provided admirable proofs of their ambassadorial qualities. The guests were received by Mrs. Maclean, the Ambassador. Most of the military and their wives were there. I was glad to see Captain and Mrs. Bolt, who have just got back from leave in New Zealand. Unfortunately they are off again by the next trooper. I arrived from the S.P.C.A. dance too late and too convivial to notice frocks or personalities with any particular accuracy. I registered the facts that Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Rybot were looking extremely charming; that there was a very great deal of noise, and that I was not looking forward to next morning.

ANGLO-FRENCH EFFORTS FOR PEACE IN EUROPE

ARMAMENT RACE DANGER AND AIR ATTACK SECURITY

Germany Ready To Negotiate

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, Feb. 15.

The text of the German Government's reply to the London communiqué published simultaneously on Friday in Berlin, Paris and London, confirms the forecast given in informed circles here as transmitted by Transocean. The reply opens by stating that the German Government is at one with the British and French Governments in their sincere desire to promote peace whose preservation is as much in the interest of Germany's security as it is in the interest of security of other European States. Hence the German Government welcomes the spirit of trustful discussion between individual governments which finds expression in the communications of the British and French Governments.

"The German Government will submit the entire complex of the European questions raised in the first part of the London communiqué to a careful examination which will be inspired as much by the spirit of a sincere will for peace as by the consideration for the security of the German Reich, having regard to the latter's geographical situation in the heart of Europe, and especially will the German Government examine the question as to what means henceforth are to be best adopted for avoiding the danger of an armament race which is attributed to the heavily armed States having renounced disarmament provided for by the treaties. The German Government is convinced that only in that spirit of free negotiations, can agreements between the sovereign States which finds expression in the Anglo-French communiqué, be durable in international settlements in the matter of armaments."

AIR CONVENTION
The reply goes on to say that the German Government "welcomes the proposal to increase security against sudden air attacks by a convention to be concluded as soon as possible and which provides for direct intervention in favour of the victim of an unprovoked air attack. The German Government is prepared on principle to make use of its air force as deterrent against disturbances of peace and is therefore willing to seek without delay in free agreement with the Governments in question, means and ways whereby such a convention guaranteeing the greatest possible safety of all signatories may be realised. The German Government takes the view that as experience shows multilateral negotiations which are not sufficiently prepared naturally produce friction that should be avoided in the interest and conclusion of such an air convention which must necessarily have entirely unprecedented effects."

"Before the German Government participates in such negotiations it considers itself desirable to clear up all her fundamental and preliminary questions in individual discussions with the Governments concerned. It would therefore cause the German Government great satisfaction if—after previous Franco-British deliberations—the British Government as the one party to the London discussions who at the same time are the guarantors of the Locarno pact, would be willing to enter first of all upon direct exchange of views also with the German Government on this matter."

"The German Government is at one with the British and French Governments in taking the view that the conclusion of an air convention would constitute an important step on the way to the solidarity of European States and would in all probability bring about the solution of other European problems satisfactory to all States."

NO OBJECTION BY FRANCE
To Anglo-German Talk

Paris, Feb. 17.
It is learned that the French Government has no objection to an Anglo-German conversation as proposed in the German reply.

It is suggested that such bilateral conversation should be preceded by firstly an Anglo-French exchange of views through the Chancelleries, secondly a Franco-British note to Germany, and thirdly the German reply thereto.—Reuter.

REPLY DISCUSSED IN FRANCE

"Door Is Open For All Possibilities"

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 16, 7.30 p.m.

Paris, Feb. 16.
The German memorandum replying to the Franco-British declaration of February 3 was published in verbatim in all morning papers and as a matter of course forms the chief topic of conversation in political circles. In the lobbies of the Chamber of Friday night the text passed from hand to hand and was discussed with animation. Two opinions crystallised clearly (1) that the German answers are couched in the most friendly language and (2) that the "door is open for all possibilities."

At the same time uneasiness is expressed at the German wish to enter into closer deliberations, first of all, with the British Government because this is felt to be a manoeuvre intended to split the Franco-British front. Late on Friday night an official communication from a French source in London stated that in view of the wish expressed by Germany, the French and British Governments would arrange new deliberations immediately as provided for in the London declaration of February 3. This decision is warmly approved by Saturday's Press, all sections of which predict that the coming international negotiations will be long and difficult.

NOTHING NEW
The "Petit Journal" says that the German answer contains nothing new but epitomises the chief features and tendencies of German diplomacy of the last few years. As they are intended to permit the resumption of negotiations one must be patient. The result desired would be reached in the end if the Germans who controlled the destiny of the Fatherland would realise from the beginning that the London declaration is one and indivisible.

The "Petit Parisien" thinks that the German answer was cool. While not rejecting the Franco-British proposals, says the paper, it passes them over in silence. "Excelsior" also declares that the most essential matter for Franco-German relationships was left unmentioned.

"CLEVER AND EVASIVE"
The "Journal Industriel" calls the German answer "clever and evasive."

"Le Matin" utters a warning against such hasty judgments and also opposes those who assert that Germany demands equality without wanting to give anything in return. "We are only in preliminary negotiations yet. Developments will be tedious and delicate but the doors are open for all who are animated by goodwill."

WEDGE BETWEEN FRANCE AND BRITAIN

German Paper Resents French Suggestion

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 17, 4.30 a.m.

Berlin, Feb. 16.
The excited Paris Press comments on the German reply are not taken seriously by the "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" which, in an editorial on Saturday evening, foresees that the nervousness of the French opinion will soon make way to a calmer view of things. The German reply, says the paper, places beyond all doubt the fact that Germany is prepared to adhere to her policy of aiming at the prevention of a general armaments race and, if it lays particular stress on the negotiations in view of an air convention it thereby, according to the paper, is only following the invitation of France and Great Britain themselves who in their communiqué expressly gave priority to such negotiations.

The paper protests against the insinuation that Germany is wishing to drive a wedge between France and Great Britain and writes "We had no objection to France and England endeavouring to find a common way leading to European peace and we cannot understand why our right for a direct talk with England should be contested."

Germany's attitude to the League of Nations, says the paper in conclusion, is sufficiently well-known not to need reiteration. She is demanding recognition of her equality rights not as a condition for her return to Geneva but, as Hitler had already stated, as a "self-evident preliminary" thereto.—Transocean Kuo Min.

DUTCH GOVERNMENT APPROVAL

No Question Of Holland Signing Air Pact

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 16, 7.30 p.m.

The Dutch Government cordially approves of the initiative taken in London to organise peace and security in Western Europe, declared de Graaf, the Foreign Minister, in a political speech. He added, however, that there could be no question of Holland becoming a signatory of the air pact. In point of fact, the Dutch Government had received no invitation to participate in such an air pact.—Transocean Kuo Min.

BITTER COMMENT FROM MOSCOW

German Attempt To Isolate France

Moscow, Feb. 17.
The German reply to the London proposals is bitterly commented upon in a special article by "Pravda," which declares that the reply is calculated to start a hidden struggle between Britain and France and aims to convert the London compromise into a means of isolating France.

The paper continues: "Suffering from megalomania, Germany seeks to create the impression that the fate of the world depends on her decision. She is greatly mistaken. European peace does not depend on this manoeuvre of Fascist dictatorship and the peoples in Europe will find a means for guaranteeing their safety."—Reuter.

BRITISH PRESS TAKE CRITICAL VIEW

Vague And Not Precise In Certain Respects

London, Feb. 16.
Although the conciliatory tone of German reply to the February 3 communiqué is fully recognised, the Press generally are critical of its substance, which in certain respects is regarded as vague and not precise. It is emphasised in most newspapers that the projected air convention to which the German Government devotes most attention belongs essentially to a regional security system in Western Europe, while for a general settlement the regional systems were considered in the Anglo-French conversations to be no less essential elsewhere in Europe.

In reference to the suggestion that the British Government should enter into direct exchange of views with the German Government on the subject of the air convention, the newspapers point out that in any case there must first be consultation with the French Government which was provided for in the communiqué. These consultations will probably be conducted through ordinary diplomatic channels.—British Wireless.

STANDSTILL CREDITS

German Arrangement

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 17, 4.30 a.m.

Berlin, Feb. 16.
The standstill negotiations going on here since February 4 between German short-term debtors and foreign creditors culminated on Saturday in the signing of a protocol providing for the prolongation of current credits, the reduction of interest rates by one-quarter to one half per cent, and the readjustment of conditions for the sale of registered marks to foreign tourists in Germany and of open credit lines.

A communiqué issued points out that the total volume of standstill credits shrank from 6.3 milliard marks in 1931 to 1.2 milliard now, this decrease being due to various reasons, namely, repayments, devaluation of foreign currencies and the growing demand for registered marks which are being chiefly used by foreign tourists visiting Germany and of which no less than one milliard marks were redeemed in this manner between March 1, 1933 and December 31, 1934.

"This also had the effect of increasing the German tourist industry, and it is hoped that the system will continue to contribute materially to the gradual wiping out of the remaining foreign credits."—Transocean Kuo Min.

SINGAPORE FLYINGBOAT CRASH

Nine Occupants Burned To Death

London, Feb. 15.
The Air Ministry has been informed that the British flyingboat K3595 crashed yesterday into the side of a mountain near a small village in a very thick patch of fog and burst into flames. CRASH IN FOG

London, Feb. 16.
H.M.S. Durban left Malta this morning for Messina to convey the bodies of nine men who lost their lives when the R.A.F. flyingboat K3595 crashed yesterday into the side of a mountain near a small village above Messina.

Just before the disaster occurred two flyingboats which were proceeding in company for Malta arranged by wireless to separate as a thick fog made it difficult for them to maintain visual contact. K3595 crashed yesterday into the side of the mountain near a small village in a very thick patch of fog and burst into flames. Its sister boat alighted at Malta yesterday morning. K3595 was a Short Singapore III, type of flyingboat. British Wireless.

HUNGARY AND ITALY

Cultural Treaty Signed

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 17, 4.30 a.m.

Rome, Feb. 16.
The cultural treaty between Italy and Hungary was signed here on Saturday by Mussolini and the Hungarian Minister of Education, Homan. A similar treaty was signed two weeks ago between Italy and Austria, but the Italo-Hungarian agreement goes somewhat further by providing for the erection of an Italian Institute in Budapest and a Hungarian Institute in Rome as well as the creation of a chair for Italian literature in the Budapest university and readerships in Italian at three other Hungarian universities. Italian will also be taught in Hungarian intermediary and technical schools.

In a speech on the occasion of the signing of the treaty, Minister Homan said that Hungary's history dated back to the foundation of the Roman province of Pannonia, adding that he welcomed the treaty as a basis for further development of spiritual brotherhood linking up the two nations. Mussolini replied by stressing Italy's friendship for the Hungarian people.—Transocean Kuo Min.

NEEDA RIDES FOUR WINNERS ON OPENING DAY OF MEETING

King's Jubilee Wins Trial Plate From Mistake Bay

PACIFIC HALL UNPLACED IN THE MAIDEN STAKES

(BY "MORNING DEW.")

The feature of the racing on Saturday was the remarkable riding success of Mr. V. V. Needa who brought home four winners, a second and a third. Otherwise honours were fairly even.

In the griffin races, training performances failed to prove a reliable guide and two very prominent Derby candidates, Pacific Hall and Mistake Bay, were both beaten.

Mr. Eu Tong Sen's colours were first past the post in The Maiden Stakes and the Hopeful Stakes. In the second section of the Sydney Maidens, Rose Ann won a remarkable race for the Straits millionaire.

Double Chance, the much fancied candidate for the Valleys, failed to find a place, Mr. Needa winning the event on Lucky Strike.

The record for the Australian six furlongs was equalled on Saturday by Derby Day who won the first section of the Sydney Maidens.

The best finish of the day was in the last race, Trentbridge and Diana Bay figuring in a dead heat after a gruelling race up the home straight.

$344 DIVIDEND IN FIRST RACE

The racing opened with a dividend of $344.80 accompanied by handsome place dividends when Mr. Neugebauer of Canton rode Strathaird to victory in the Wong Nei Chong Stakes, first, section. Gold Picker, who was nominated to win this race preferred to try his luck in the Valleys later in the day, where he was unplaced. High Principle finished second and Strathaird, a stable companion of the winner, filled third place. Nebular Star and Emergency Call were well backed, but were never in the picture.

SECOND SECTION

In the second section, the start was such that six ponies were left standing when the gate went up. Matinee Idol, and Belmont Star were fairly well away, but another well packed pony, Tin Ho, was never in the picture after being left. Belmont Star produced a much better finish and won by a length and a half from Needa's mount. Mr. Deltz on What About That got into third place.

THE MAIDEN STAKES

There was considerable difficulty in getting the field to line up at the gate in the Maidens. Pih on Clear View got well away as the gate shot up and, pushing his pony in the early stages of the race, set a long lead with Tammany Hall the only other pony well up.

Clear View led right into the home straight, when neither whip nor spur could induce the pony to run any more and he faded rapidly out of the picture. Meanwhile, Mr. Botelho on Ythan, crept up on the leaders followed by Pacific Hall, who had been held for the big effort in the straight, and Roseau. High Honour, too, left the stragglers and was making a big effort to catch up on the leaders.

Pacific Hall got into the lead at the distance post, where he, too, decided that he had had enough and gave it up! Roseau came along and, finishing stronger than the rest, won the race from High Honour who put in a big burst of speed in the home straight to finish second. Ythan was third. The time was 1.31.3, and the last quarter 32!

DERBY DAY

Derby Day ridden by Mr. H. C. Pih, got a good start in the Sydney Maidens and that made all the difference for her in the race. She was hotly pursued by Got That, but the latter could not make up for the two lengths he had to concede at the start, and finished three-quarters of a length behind Derby Day who returned 1.19.3 (equals record). Southern Cross who was not so fast off the gate as the others picked his way through the field and finished third, two lengths behind Got That. Mount Pilatus was running straight at the end.

ANOTHER BAD START

Another bad start was seen in the fifth race where two ponies shot out and had gone about ten lengths before it dawned on the others that the gate was up. The two in the lead were The Bean Goose and Shooting Star, the latter on the rails. Side by side they ran and it looked as if they would have the race to themselves, when Rose Ann detached herself from the stragglers and crept up on the leaders. She made rapid progress at the bend before the home straight and was only a matter of some six lengths behind at the quarter mile post. Then Needa gave a brilliant exhibition of riding and putting all he knew into the business, he was up with the leaders a hundred yards from home, and, carrying straight on, won by three lengths! It was a remarkable victory. The Bean Goose got the better of Shooting Star.

FOOCHOW CUP

There were five starters in the Fochow Cup. The field allowed Liberty Bay to run by himself, which the latter did, winning in 3.01.1. King's Justice accounted for New Star by two lengths, with Ribble fourth and Soldier of China fifth. King's Justice hung together with the others until three furlongs from home, when Mr. Marshall sent him up and he went ahead of the others. New Star and Ribble made a good race of it for third, but Ribble did not appear to run quite as well as he did when he finished second in the St. Leger.

THE VALLEY STAKES

The Valley drew 22 starters. Double Chance was lying sixteenth when the gate went up and he began to pick his way through so successfully that, at the head of the straight, he was fourth, but the earlier effort seemed to have been too much for the pony and he did not show any more inclination to contest; the issue in the home straight although he tried again and again to make him move. The Cheetham was prominent early in the race and, running well, led into the home straight. At the distance post he was joined by Lucky Strike who had been lying handy all the time and came through to win by two lengths. Marshall brought Wadebridge along at the finish to contest second place with The Cheetham and only failed by a matter of inches. Double Chance was fourth.

MISTAKE BAY BEATEN

Mistake Bay carried more than half the pool in the Trial Plate. He was beaten by a neck by King's Jubilee in a thrilling finish. Needa on Diogenes went out in front and after covering half mile in 58.4, allowed the pony to run by itself, doing the first six furlongs in 1.31.3 and the mile in 2.05.4. Meanwhile, Mr. Frost on Mistake Bay was taking no chances and he began to send the Dunbar pony out after Diogenes. He caught the leader just after passing the Rock, but he was not alone, for Marshall on King's Jubilee had been within a couple of lengths of Mistake Bay all this time and now began to draw up.

The two ponies were almost together at the distance post and in a gruelling race home, King's Jubilee won by a neck. Soldier of Peace was third.

THE CHINA STAKES

Punters held their breath as Soldier of Britain found himself some ten lengths in arrears after the first quarter mile in the China Stakes (five furlongs). Oak Bay benefitting from a good start went all out and got a long lead. Meanwhile, Mr. Sun on Soldier of Britain could not get his mount to run in the customary way, but after he had passed the incline the big grey began to move on, and it speaks volumes for him when he came home a winner by a short head, making up the ten lengths on Oak Bay in three furlongs. King's Fancy was third.

MISJUDGED RACE?

Cossack's Beauty won the old Course Plate from King's Warden and Sadko and I am inclined to think that both these ponies might have beaten Cossack's Beauty had they chosen to go with him in the early stages of the race. Instead of that Cossack's Beauty had a lead of six furlongs at the end of six furlongs done in 1.31. Putting in a finishing half mile in 1.01.1, the grey won the race by a head. Both King's Warden and Sadko must have registered something like 57 for the last half mile, but in spite of that they were not able to catch up, the early lead being too much for them. Both finished beautifully.

The Tiger ran very well throughout this race and finished fourth.

THE HOPEFUL STAKES

Rose Queen proved herself a very reliable runner when she won the Hopeful Stakes in convincing manner from Soldier of Victory. Needa held his mount well in until the straight, when he asked her for an effort and she responded at once, to give him a victory of two lengths. Soldier of Victory and Royal Romance filled the other places, both being prominent throughout. Victoria Hall disappointed as the pony did not seem to move well on the hard course.

THE LAST THRILL

The day's sport was wound up with a thrilling finish in the New Stables Plate in which Diana Bay and Trentbridge figured. Here, too, the jockeys did not go out in front at all but rode with their field and Bright View showed the way, leading into the straight, while both Diana Bay and Trentbridge were with field a good distance behind. Both came through into the lead just before the Distance post, with Diana Bay a neck in front. This difference resulted in a tremendous struggle, the two ponies running side by side, stride by stride, with Trentbridge gaining a couple of inches at each stride. The two finished together as the winning post was reached.

WEEK-END FOOTBALL

Second Check For South China "A"

Chinese Athletic Unlucky

A very high standard of football was witnessed during the week-end, especially the game yesterday between South China "A" and the Chinese Athletic.

On Saturday the Club de Recreio did extremely well to beat the strong Police eleven by three goals to two. Delgado playing at inside right for the Portuguese team secured the "hat-trick" by netting the three goals.

The game between Club and the Royal Artillery on Saturday was also exciting, Albert Howe the Colony centre forward gave a very fine performance and was ably supported by Fowler and Bickford.

South China "B" trounced the East Lanes, while the game on the Club ground between South China "A" and the Chinese Athletic resulted in a drawn game of one goal each. "Darkie" Chan playing at inside left was the best man on the field and treated the spectators to a new brand of football.

China Athletic 1 S. China "A" 1

Outplayed for three quarters of the game the South China "A" team was very fortunate in snatching a point from the Chinese Athletic yesterday when they played a drawn game of one goal each. During most of the play, they were made to look like a second rate team. Wong Wing in goal played well enough while Lee Tung Sang and Lau Mau were not up to form. Leung Wing Chui was the pick of the halves. Tam Kong Pak was the only South China forward that did himself justice. During the second half of the game Lee Kwok-wai had the misfortune to fall and injured his arm.

The Chinese Athletic team played extraordinarily well and was really unfortunate to lose a point. Mak Sui Hong at right back gave a sparkling exhibition and was ably supported by Wong Ping.

There was a sensational opening to the game. South China kicked off but before anything could happen the Athletic forwards took the ball down to the South China circle for Ho Kar Keung to finish the ball past Wong Wing to open the score.

Thereafter the Chinese Athletic had most of the play and from a very nice pass from "Darkie"

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

China Athletic 1 S. China "A" 1

Outplayed for three quarters of the game the South China "A" team was very fortunate in snatching a point from the Chinese Athletic yesterday when they played a drawn game of one goal each. During most of the play, they were made to look like a second rate team. Wong Wing in goal played well enough while Lee Tung Sang and Lau Mau were not up to form. Leung Wing Chui was the pick of the halves. Tam Kong Pak was the only South China forward that did himself justice. During the second half of the game Lee Kwok-wai had the misfortune to fall and injured his arm.

The Chinese Athletic team played extraordinarily well and was really unfortunate to lose a point. Mak Sui Hong at right back gave a sparkling exhibition and was ably supported by Wong Ping.

Of the intermediate line Chui Ah Fok in the pivotal position worked like a trojan and was no doubt the best half on view. Ng Tak Wing on his left had Tao Kwai Tung well marked while "Darkie" Chan was the star man in the forward line.

There was a sensational opening to the game. South China kicked off but before anything could happen the Athletic forwards took the ball down to the South China circle for Ho Kar Keung to finish the ball past Wong Wing to open the score.

Thereafter the Chinese Athletic had most of the play and from a very nice pass from "Darkie"

S. China "B" defeated the E. Lanes by 5 goals to 1 in a one sided game. Lee Shek Yau placed the Chinese ahead within the first few minutes. Several quick attempts at the Chinese goal were cleared by Wong, and following a nice combination bout Lee Shek Yau scored again.

During the second half two penalties were awarded against the E. Lanes in quick succession, which Lee Shek Yau converted. After this the Chinese slackened their pace and Lawton found the net. Lal Shui Wing, however, scored towards the end.

The Navy scored a much needed victory against the Lincolns by three clear goals, thanks to the brilliant defence of the team.

Skinner, taking a free kick from 30 yards, hit the upright, and Kiley met the ball on the rebound to beat Meaken with a terrific shot to the roof of the net. A few minutes later Gray placed the Navy further ahead when he took a deliberate shot from the penalty spot from a pass by Constable.

Crocker made a great save when the Lincolns took play to the other end and English sent in a drive, diving full length to punch the ball out. Crocker made another great save when he took the ball from Higgins' feet as the latter was about to shoot. Yet another fine save by Crocker was witnessed when Malpass shot from 12 yards range, Crocker diving to concede a corner.

The third and last goal was scored just on half time, Roberts making a fine solo run from the half-way line, beating Ash and Edmondson, and placing the ball in the far corner.

JUNIOR DIVISION

The Club's second string was no match for the Lincolns to whom they lost by 8 goals to one. Speed was the main factor in the Lincolns' easy victory. Dobbs (4), Rush, Toynce, Clayton and McGuinness scored for the soldiers and Fowler for the Club.

Weight was primarily responsible for the defeat of the China Athletic by the Gunners. The first half was quite an even affair. The Chinese missed a penalty and Chow missed an open goal. In the second half the Chinese defence was spreadeagled and four goals were scored by the Gunners through Rivers, Sparkes, Taylor and Tang who deflected the ball into his own goal.

South China surprised the Navy by the odd goal in five. The Navy had only themselves to blame when, with everything before them they dilly-dallied and positioned themselves before shooting, and were often robbed by the Chinese. Ip Koon Ying scored first and Navy equalised through Bennett from a penalty. Chan Tak Fai added to the score but Adams equalised. Towards the last minute of the game Ip Koon Ying broke away and netted the decider.

In a one-sided affair E. Lanes beat Kowloon by three clear goals after throwing away plenty of opportunities.

Wild shooting and disinclination to put the finishing touches to the movements saved Kowloon from a heavy defeat.

Ridings (2) and Walkden scored.

THIRD DIVISION

The R.A.M.C. defeated the Lincolns by the odd goal in three in a very even and exciting encounter. Lincolns were a trifle unlucky not to have shared the points. Wright and Pym scored for the Medicals and Reason for the Lincolns.

The leaders in the Third division were given a very rude shock by the lowly placed Recreio team who were unlucky to have lost by the odd goal in three. Pritchard (2) scored for the Lanes and Santos for the Recs.

The R.A.O.C. were just a shade better than the Engineers when they were victorious by the odd goal in three. Pritchard and Routledge scored for the Ordnance and Strike for the Engineers.

GERMAN TRADE FIGURES

Imports Exceed Exports

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1893. Received, February 17, 4:30 a.m.)

Berlin, Feb. 16.

Unconcealed disappointment is felt here about the official foreign trade figures for January published on Saturday. These show that imports exceeded exports in January by 1.5 million marks as against a deficit of 45 million in December, and 22 million in January, 1934. The average monthly deficit of the whole of 1934 was only 24 million. Imports in January, 1935 were 404 million marks, while exports were 299 million.

It is believed that the figures are partly explainable by the fact that the barter business has recently been arranged on a vast scale. Germany importing raw stuffs and exporting manufactured products. But whereas rawstuffs being the primary materials tend to arrive immediately after agreements have been signed, exports consist of an immense variety of manufactures goods which take a long time to market. This cannot account completely, however, since the imports of rawstuffs in January 1934 were 233.5 million while in January, 1935 they were 233.3, which is almost identical and which leads to the suggestion that the falling off in exports was rather to blame. At all events, an official enquiry has been at once instituted to see whether the existing clearing agreements adopted in the interests of foreign creditors against the wish to the Reich-

Cotton Piece-Goods and Fancy Cotton Goods

The following reports have been received:—

The market opened quietly after the Chinese New Year festival with no bankruptcies of note to report. Clearances of Spring goods have been good, but only small profits are being made. No sales of bankrupt stocks have yet been reported.

Another report states:—

Contrary to general expectation there were no failures of importance amongst regular Piece-Goods Dealers at Chinese New Year.

The market has been very dull since opening and no new forward business of any importance has been negotiated. Clearances have commenced for Spring goods, but the present dull state of the market precludes any accurate forecast of future price prospects.

The latest Cotton prices to hand are those of the 14th February:—

Woolens

The market for woolens is nearing the end and clearances are poor. There are no enquiries for Woolens and Worsteds for July shipment to date. Prices for Japanese goods have fallen a further 15% since the opening.

Another report states:—

The feature of the market is the continued decline in price of Japanese productions and its detrimental effect upon seasonal business in Bradford and continental manufactures.

THE SHARE MARKET

Harriman's Weekly Report

Saturday, Feb. 16.

Mr. G. A. Harriman's weekly share report and market review issued at noon states:—

Although the market was rather sluggish at the opening, a fairly large volume of business was put through in investment issues during the latter part of the week and prices in general were very well maintained. The investment section was active with Hong Kong Tramways changing hands at $20.15/25, Hong Kong Electric at $71, Telephones (old) at $25.50/75, and Wharves at $112. Hong Kong Land after changing hands at $50 were in demand at $49 1/2. Dairy Farms eased off with shares on offer at $23.60. There was very little change in the minor issues. Cements remained in demand at $2.02 1/2 with sales effected at $2.04/05. China Lights fluctuated between $9.90 and $10.15. Hotels continued in request at $4.90 with sellers at $5. Providents (old) improved slightly with enquiries at $1.30. Sterling counters were rather quiet due to a further rise in exchange, Hong Kong Banks being on offer at $15.20, but Unions could be placed at $492. The tone of the market at the close is quiet and is no doubt influenced by the approach of the Annual Race Meeting.
